Sirina Production Video APRIL 15th - 14th 2009 LATHAM PARK / FLEET HILL, NSW, 2669 TUESDAY 7th September 2009 - The Big 8 2009 GENERAL ADMISSION & CANDLELIGHT RESERVATION PACKAGE (20% REDUCED). The district had a very famous Australian rules football (AFL) club in the 1920s. The Beresfords were well known and respected for their hard work, physicality and skill. They were a large family with a strong farm background, who had previously worked in the local Cudgegong Winery. During their brief existence, the Beresfords tasted success in the ACTFL and made the Northern Territory (NT) grand final in their only season. They did so well that it encouraged crowds of 100 to 150 people to attend the matches to watch them play. Â... The name 'Beresford' was chosen for the club after Sir Joseph Beresford, who was an explorer and a Royal Engineer during the time of the

Burke and Wills expedition. He was named 'Arthur's Doctor' for his medical services to the expedition and rose to become Commissioner of New South Wales. The club was originally located in Waverley, about a 10-minute drive from their first home ground at the Ray Valley RSL Sports Ground. Ray Valley was an aboriginal word for a mulga tree. The club played their home games on the northern suburbs of Canberra during its first three seasons. The club reached the grand final of the A Grade competition in 1928 and 1929, but lost both games. It was the first time the district had won the competition since 1914 and was the first time since 1904 that the district had reached the grand final. In 1930, an Englishman named Charles Dowd moved to the district and built a house for his family at Castle Hill. In the early 1930s, the Beresfords and Dowds played a series of weekend district carnivals. Castle Hill RSL was the neutral ground for the matches. By the end of 1935, the Beresfords had outgrown their first ground at the Ray Valley RSL and found a new ground on the south-west side of Canberra at Yorkville (now called the Australian War Memorial).
